

COMMONWEALTH OF NATOWA
NATIONAL RESTORATION ACT OF 2026

Also referred to as the “Anti-NMM Act”

ENACTED — 28 OCTOBER 2026 | PRESIDENTIAL ASSENT RECORDED

Bill No.:

Introduced: 28 October 2026

AN ACT

To establish measures for the restoration of Commonwealth authority following the Natowan Civil War of 20–27 October 2026; to dissolve and prohibit the Natowan Monarchist Movement and its purported government; to provide a framework for postwar accountability; to impose diplomatic sanctions on foreign governments that supported the rebellion; to provide for the admission and electoral status of Southern Horseshoe; and for related purposes.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE COMPETENT LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF NATOWA:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE AND PURPOSE

1.1. This Act may be cited as the “National Restoration Act of 2026.”

1.2. Its purposes are to restore ordinary Commonwealth administration, settle outstanding territorial and diplomatic matters arising from the Natowan Civil War, and establish the legal consequences of organized participation in the rebellion.

1.3. References to the “Civil War” mean the conflict of 20–27 October 2026, declared concluded at approximately 9:51 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time on 27 October 2026.

SECTION 2. DEFINITIONS

2.1. “Commonwealth” means the Commonwealth of Natowa and its duly constituted government.

2.2. “NMM” means the Natowan Monarchist Movement led during the Civil War by Paul F. Talbot.

2.3. “GMR” means the self-proclaimed Government of Monarchist Restoration associated with the NMM.

2.4. “Foreign supporting government” means a government determined under this Act to have officially supported or recognized the NMM or GMR during the Civil War.

2.5. “Uoylt administration” means the government of Central Mercia under Earl Uoylt, not Earl Uoylt alone.

2.6. “Southern Horseshoe” means the territory whose status became disputed during the Civil War.

SECTION 3. RESTORATION OF COMMONWEALTH AUTHORITY

3.1. The Commonwealth declares that the organized territorial rebellion of the NMM ended following the recapture of Federal Hill on 27 October 2026.

3.2. The Commonwealth reasserts its governmental authority over Federal Hill and other territory restored to its administration.

3.3. Executive departments shall resume ordinary civil functions and preserve records relating to the conflict.

SECTION 4. DISSOLUTION AND PROHIBITION OF THE NMM

4.1. The NMM and the GMR shall be dissolved and prohibited as organizations within the Commonwealth's internal legal framework upon this Act's entry into force.

4.2. No organization may claim to exercise governmental authority on behalf of the dissolved GMR.

4.3. This prohibition concerns the specified organizations and their conduct; monarchism as a political belief remains lawful.

4.4. Registration of future monarchist political parties may be subject to lawful scrutiny of organizational conduct, without prohibiting peaceful political advocacy solely because of ideology.

SECTION 5. POSTWAR ACCOUNTABILITY AND SENTENCING

5.1. The Commonwealth records that 21 individuals were identified as active NMM members at the conclusion of the conflict.

5.2. Under the Commonwealth's stated internal postwar system, designated NMM members are treated as ineligible for its ordinary due-process procedure, and the government proposes to proceed directly to sentencing.

5.3. The competent Natowan authority shall determine and record each sentence under the Commonwealth's applicable rules. This Act does not itself specify individual sentences.

5.4. The identity of each affected person, the basis of the designation, and the imposed penalty shall be recorded to avoid mistaken attribution.

5.5. Nothing in this Act authorizes physical detention, coercion, or punishment contrary to applicable real-world law or the agreed rules governing participants. Participants physically released following the organized conflict remain released.

SECTION 6. DIPLOMATIC SANCTIONS

6.1. The Commonwealth shall establish sanctions against foreign supporting governments, subject to formal identification and publication of the restrictions.

6.2. The Republic of Dirtville shall be designated for extensive diplomatic restrictions in light of its reported referendum recognizing the GMR as Natowa's legitimate government.

6.3. Sanctions concerning Central Mercia shall target the Uoylt administration as the current government, rather than Earl Uoylt in an exclusively personal capacity.

6.4. The historical conduct and status of Central Mercia's former interim administration shall be documented separately. This clause does not recognize that administration as currently existing.

6.5. Sanctions may include suspension of diplomatic cooperation, official recognition arrangements, governmental visits, and participation in joint micronational initiatives, to the extent permitted by existing agreements.

6.6. The executive shall publish the specific measures, their effective dates, and any conditions for modification or removal.

6.7. Sanctions do not automatically extend to private citizens solely because of nationality or political belief.

SECTION 7. SOUTHERN HORSESHOE

- 7.1. Southern Horseshoe shall be admitted to the Commonwealth under the territorial arrangement approved by the competent Natowan authorities.
- 7.2. Southern Horseshoe shall not participate as a separate state in the 2026 Commonwealth elections.
- 7.3. The governments or authorized representatives of Horseshoe and Southern Horseshoe shall determine the territory's subsequent administrative relationship by mutual agreement.
- 7.4. If they cannot reach agreement, the matter shall be referred to the Natowa Council for determination.
- 7.5. The resulting administrative boundaries, governmental responsibilities, and future electoral status shall be published in the official record.

SECTION 8. IMPLEMENTATION AND OFFICIAL RECORD

- 8.1. The Commonwealth government shall maintain an official record of actions taken under this Act, including organizational dissolution, sanctions, territorial decisions, and sentencing determinations.
- 8.2. Relevant executive departments shall prepare implementation notices and report to the Natowa Council as required by Natowan law.
- 8.3. Any amendments to existing treaties shall follow their specified approval procedures, including Council approval where required.
- 8.4. The government may issue implementing regulations consistent with this Act.

SECTION 9. SEVERABILITY

- 9.1. If any provision is found invalid by the competent authority, the remaining provisions shall continue to operate to the extent practicable.

SECTION 10. COMMENCEMENT

- 10.1. This Act shall enter into force upon its lawful enactment, unless a later effective date is specified.
- 10.2. No provision of this draft shall be treated as enacted before the required legislative approval and promulgation.

LEGISLATIVE RECORD

Introduced by: President Gavin Norberg

Council vote: PASSED UNANIMOUSLY, 13–0, on 28 October 2026

Senate/Council: Same legislative body; approval recorded above

Executive assent: Signed by President Gavin Norberg on 28 October 2026

Effective date: Governed by Section 10.1; no separate later date reported

END OF ENACTED TEXT (ORIGINAL BILL)

SUPPLEMENTAL EXPANSION — LEGISLATIVE STATUS NOT CONFIRMED

The following expanded provisions were added to this working document after the original bill. Their inclusion in the version approved by the Council and signed by the President has not been verified; they are not represented here as enacted law.

TITLE I — HISTORICAL AND CONSTITUTIONAL BACKGROUND

SECTION 11. LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS

- 11.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning legislative findings.
- 11.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 11.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 11.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 11.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 12. CHRONOLOGY OF THE CIVIL WAR

- 12.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning chronology of the civil war.
- 12.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 12.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 12.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 12.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 13. RESTORATION OF FEDERAL HILL

- 13.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning restoration of federal hill.
- 13.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 13.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 13.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 13.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 14. CONTINUITY OF CONSTITUTIONAL INSTITUTIONS

- 14.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning continuity of constitutional institutions.
- 14.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 14.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 14.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 14.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 15. POSTWAR TRANSITION OF GOVERNMENT

- 15.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning postwar transition of government.
- 15.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 15.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 15.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 15.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 16. DEFINITIONS AND INTERPRETATION

- 16.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning definitions and interpretation.
- 16.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 16.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 16.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 16.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

TITLE II — DISSOLUTION OF REBELLION-ERA INSTITUTIONS

SECTION 17. STATUS OF THE NMM

- 17.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning status of the nmm.
- 17.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 17.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

17.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

17.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 18. STATUS OF THE GOVERNMENT OF MONARCHIST RESTORATION

18.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning status of the government of monarchist restoration.

18.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

18.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

18.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

18.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 19. PRESERVATION OF HISTORICAL RECORDS

19.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning preservation of historical records.

19.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

19.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

19.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

19.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 20. REGISTRATION OF SUCCESSOR ORGANIZATIONS

20.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning registration of successor organizations.

20.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

20.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

20.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

20.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 21. PROTECTION OF PEACEFUL MONARCHIST EXPRESSION

21.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning protection of peaceful monarchist expression.

- 21.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 21.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 21.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 21.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 22. OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF ORGANIZATIONAL DECISIONS

- 22.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning official publication of organizational decisions.
- 22.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 22.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 22.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 22.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

TITLE III — POSTWAR ADMINISTRATIVE RECORDS

SECTION 23. IDENTIFICATION AND DOCUMENTATION

- 23.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning identification and documentation.
- 23.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 23.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 23.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 23.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 24. RECORD OF INTERNAL DECISIONS

- 24.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning record of internal decisions.
- 24.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 24.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 24.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

24.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 25. ACCURACY OF MEMBERSHIP REGISTERS

25.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning accuracy of membership registers.

25.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

25.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

25.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

25.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 26. CORRECTION OF MISTAKEN ENTRIES

26.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning correction of mistaken entries.

26.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

26.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

26.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

26.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 27. PUBLIC REPORTING AND PRIVACY

27.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning public reporting and privacy.

27.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

27.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

27.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

27.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 28. LIMITS OF REAL-WORLD ENFORCEMENT

28.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning limits of real-world enforcement.

28.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

28.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

28.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

28.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

TITLE IV — FOREIGN RELATIONS AND SANCTIONS

SECTION 29. DESIGNATION OF FOREIGN SUPPORTING GOVERNMENTS

29.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning designation of foreign supporting governments.

29.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

29.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

29.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

29.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 30. REPUBLIC OF DIRTVILLE

30.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning republic of dirtville.

30.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

30.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

30.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

30.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 31. CENTRAL MERCIA AND THE UOYLT ADMINISTRATION

31.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning central mercia and the uoylt administration.

31.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

31.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

31.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

31.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 32. DISTINCTION FROM THE FORMER INTERIM ADMINISTRATION

32.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning distinction from the former interim administration.

32.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

32.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

32.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

32.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 33. DIPLOMATIC RESTRICTIONS AND COMMENCEMENT

33.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning diplomatic restrictions and commencement.

33.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

33.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

33.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

33.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 34. SANCTIONS REGISTER

34.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning sanctions register.

34.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

34.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

34.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

34.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 35. RECONSIDERATION AND REMOVAL

35.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning reconsideration and removal.

35.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

35.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

35.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

35.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 36. PRESERVATION OF EXISTING TREATIES

36.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning preservation of existing treaties.

36.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

36.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

36.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

36.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

TITLE V — SOUTHERN HORSESHOE

SECTION 37. ADMISSION TO THE COMMONWEALTH

37.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning admission to the commonwealth.

37.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

37.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

37.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

37.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 38. TRANSITIONAL ADMINISTRATION

38.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning transitional administration.

38.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

38.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

38.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

38.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 39. 2026 STATE-LEVEL ELECTORAL ARRANGEMENTS

- 39.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning 2026 state-level electoral arrangements.
- 39.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 39.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 39.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 39.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 40. NEGOTIATIONS WITH HORSESHOE

- 40.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning negotiations with horseshoe.
- 40.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 40.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 40.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 40.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 41. REFERRAL OF DISAGREEMENTS TO THE COUNCIL

- 41.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning referral of disagreements to the council.
- 41.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 41.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 41.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 41.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 42. TERRITORIAL MAPS AND OFFICIAL REGISTERS

- 42.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning territorial maps and official registers.
- 42.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 42.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 42.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

42.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 43. FUTURE REPRESENTATION AND ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW

43.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning future representation and administrative review.

43.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

43.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

43.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

43.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

TITLE VI — NATIONAL ARCHIVES AND PUBLIC ACCOUNTABILITY

SECTION 44. PRESERVATION OF WAR RECORDS

44.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning preservation of war records.

44.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

44.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

44.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

44.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 45. PUBLICATION OF GOVERNMENT DECISIONS

45.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning publication of government decisions.

45.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

45.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

45.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

45.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 46. ARCHIVAL CLASSIFICATION

46.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning archival classification.

- 46.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 46.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 46.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 46.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 47. PUBLIC ACCESS AND RECORDS REQUESTS

- 47.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning public access and records requests.
- 47.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 47.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 47.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 47.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 48. CORRECTION OF HISTORICAL INACCURACIES

- 48.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning correction of historical inaccuracies.
- 48.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 48.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 48.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 48.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 49. LEGISLATIVE REPORTING

- 49.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning legislative reporting.
- 49.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 49.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 49.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 49.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 50. RELATIONSHIP TO FUTURE ARCHIVES LEGISLATION

50.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning relationship to future archives legislation.

50.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

50.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

50.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

50.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

TITLE VII — IMPLEMENTATION

SECTION 51. RESPONSIBILITIES OF EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS

51.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning responsibilities of executive departments.

51.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

51.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

51.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

51.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 52. COUNCIL OVERSIGHT

52.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning council oversight.

52.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

52.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

52.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

52.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 53. PUBLICATION OF IMPLEMENTING NOTICES

53.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning publication of implementing notices.

53.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

53.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

53.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

53.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 54. ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENDITURE

54.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning administrative expenditure.

54.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

54.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

54.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

54.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 55. COORDINATION BETWEEN OFFICES

55.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning coordination between offices.

55.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

55.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

55.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

55.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 56. TRANSITIONAL DEADLINES

56.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning transitional deadlines.

56.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

56.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

56.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

56.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 57. ANNUAL REVIEW

- 57.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning annual review.
- 57.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 57.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 57.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 57.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

TITLE VIII — FINAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 58. RELATIONSHIP WITH EXISTING LEGISLATION

- 58.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning relationship with existing legislation.
- 58.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 58.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 58.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 58.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 59. TREATY INTEGRITY

- 59.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning treaty integrity.
- 59.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 59.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.
- 59.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.
- 59.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 60. SEVERABILITY

- 60.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning severability.
- 60.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.
- 60.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

60.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

60.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 61. AMENDMENT PROCEDURE

61.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning amendment procedure.

61.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

61.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

61.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

61.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 62. ENTRY INTO FORCE

62.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning entry into force.

62.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

62.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

62.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

62.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SECTION 63. CERTIFICATION AND SIGNATURES

63.1. The competent authorities of the Commonwealth shall establish and maintain an official written record concerning certification and signatures.

63.2. Every decision made pursuant to this section shall identify its responsible office, date, applicable authority, and effect within the Commonwealth's internal governmental framework.

63.3. Where this subject requires further implementing rules, the government shall publish those rules and distinguish proposed measures from measures in force.

63.4. The Natowa Council may request a report, consider amendments, and review the administration of this section under its established constitutional powers.

63.5. This section shall not independently modify existing treaties, impose real-world penalties, or override applicable law outside the Commonwealth's internal micronational arrangements.

SCHEDULE I — OFFICIAL HISTORICAL DATES

20 October 2026: Beginning of the Natowan Civil War.

21 October 2026: Battle of Eastern Territory.

23 October 2026: Southern Horseshoe territorial dispute.

27 October 2026, 9:51 p.m. EDT: Declared conclusion of the Civil War.

SCHEDULE II — LEGISLATIVE CERTIFICATION

Bill number: Pending

Sponsor (original bill): President Gavin Norberg

Council vote (original bill): 13–0 on 28 October 2026

Other approvals required by Natowan law: Pending

Executive assent (original bill): President Gavin Norberg, 28 October 2026

Commencement (original bill): Subject to Section 10.1